

NATIONAL GUARD LEAVES FOR CAMP

Two Special Trains Carrying Men
And Equipment Off for Maneuvers.

BIENNIAL HIKE THURSDAY.

Special Trains Arrive at Dale Creek at 7 p. m. Tomorrow—March Starts
Next Morning Early.

The Utah National Guard leaves this morning by two special trains over the Union Pacific for Dale Creek station, Wyo., where they will detrain and march to the maneuver camp on the Crow Creek forest reserve. The Guard has been in active expectation and preparation which has not occurred for two years; special attention being given to the rifle team whose members have been living a regular army life at Fort Douglas with daily practice at the butts, under the direction of Lieut. Walshall, and general supervision of Maj. Williams commanding the Guard.

Nearly 400 officers and men are in uniform this afternoon, preparing for the biennial hike, including the light battery, signal corps, hospital corps, and six companies of infantry. The first and H of the infantry battalion are from Salt Lake, B company is from Ogden, D, E and F companies are from Mt. Pleasant, Richfield and Manti, the three southern companies being under Maj. Fred Kammermann of Manti. These latter commands arrive late this afternoon, over the Rio Grande road, the Ogden company enrouteing at the junction city. The battery under Capt. Webb camped on the high school campus Monday and today, drilling the horses and hastily getting into shape for active work. The horses of the signal corps and mounted officers of the guard were brought there today, for stabling, preparatory to loading this afternoon. The box car containing the tent equipment of the Guard left a week ago, arriving safely at Dale Creek where a sergeant and detail went Sunday night from this city to care for it.

ATTENTION TO DETAILS.

The most careful preparations have been made by Adj. Gen. Wedgewood, Asst. Adj. Gen. Lund, and the officers of the Guard to make a creditable showing, and the smallest detail has not been overlooked. The adjutant general has been giving special attention to getting out the fullest number of enlisted men, spending much time in arguing with short-sighted employers who did not want to let their employees go because it was not convenient. Even the governor "took a hand in the game," and went the rounds in an automobile to use his powers of persuasion. To use the words of the adjutant, "the combination worked beautifully," ergo, a largely increased turnout of enlisted men. The adjutant general will be in general charge of the expedition, with Sergt. Maj. Barnum, an old time regular, at his elbow.

ON THE FIRST SECTION.

The first section of the special train includes the guns, wagons, horses and men of the battery, part of the signal corps equipment, the hospital corps and all of the horses of the guard. Captain W. C. Webb will have command of the train, and with him will be, besides his own command, First Lieut. T. D. Foster of the signal corps and a detail of six men to care for the horses of the corps and equipment. Batches with kitchen and dining cars and a baggage car will be provided. The second section of the special is wholly a troop train, including passenger coaches, baggage car for the officers' baggage, a dining and kitchen car, and a baggage car for the baggage of the war department rations have been loaded from the Fort Douglas commissary for the trip to and from the encampment for the entire guard. The department has been handled perceptibly by the assistant adjutant general, Colonel Lund, Major W. G. Williams, commanding the Guard, will have immediate command of the second section of the military train.

DE WEDNESDAY EVENING.

The Utah troops are due at Dale Creek station at 7 p. m. Wednesday. A 24 hour run, time being taken at Green river, to detrain the horses for feeding and rest. The battery has 70 head of horses, the signal corps 30, which with the others for officers, aggregate 125 head. On arrival at Dale Creek station, the men will pitch camp for the night. Tents will be struck bright and early Thursday morning, and the march of 14 miles begun, arriving at destination late in the afternoon. George A. Storrs of Utah county furnished 53 of the battery horses. At the camp, the battery will be merged into the Fourth regiment of field artillery U. S. A., and the signal corps will be attached to a company of the U. S. signal corps. Most of the Utah signal men are mounted, the rest being assigned to wagons. The adjutant and assistant adjutant general, Major Williams and other officers have largely abridged their hours of sleep for the past two weeks in getting things into shape, the major rising at 4:30 a. m. to walk to the fort to look after the riflemen. In fact, it has been a season of hard work for all, go out determined to bring only credit on the state and themselves. The number of troops at the encampment will number enough to make a command of two or three brigades, under regular army. A good sized crowd will be on hand this evening, to see the troops off. No street parades are being indulged in this year, either before or after camp.

UTAH RIFLE TEAM SHOWS IMPROVEMENT

Members Leave for Twelve Day Encampment and Will Finish Practising There.

In their final workout Monday afternoon, on the Fort Douglas rifle range, the members of the National Guard rifle team did some phenomenal shooting. The improvement in their shooting has put the team in the great ranks of its class and great things are expected of the boys when they compete at Camp Perry in the national meet the latter part of the month. Coach Walshall is pleased with their work and believes that the team will be able to carry off the honors of its class.

The team left this afternoon with their respective companies for Wyoming, where they will be in camp for 12 days. While there the team will do some practising daily and this will put them in much better condition for the contest at Camp Perry.

ODORIFEROUS CANAL.

Residents on West Ninth South File Protest With City Council.

Residents of the Second precinct represented to the council Monday evening that the open canal on west Ninth South street is being used by the city as an open sewer and by many of the residents along its bank for the same purpose. "The flushings of the streets and the waste from the houses, as well as the carcasses of dead cats, dogs, chickens and other animals and things are," the petition says, "cast therein to float down, lodge and rot and stink, making the canal unsanitary, unhealthy and almost unbearable, endangering the health and lives of not only the people who reside in the immediate vicinity, but by contagion and spread, the health and lives of the entire city."

Twenty-two Infants in Salt Lake Give Up Struggle for Life During July.

Twenty-two infants under 1 year succumbed in Salt Lake City during July to the oppressive heat according to the report of the city board of health; four of the little ones were under 4 months when they died, the heat having caused in their case digestive troubles which proved fatal.

Diarrhoea and enteritis caused 16 cases of infantile mortality under 2 years of age and 2 cases over 2 years. Typhoid fever caused 5 deaths in July, but most of these cases were brought to the hospitals here for treatment.

Of the total number of deaths for the month, children and adults, males and females were equally divided; and strange to say of the total number of adults only 32 were married, the single persons numbering 52.

The births for the month just ended numbered 169, of which 91 were boys and 78 girls, and the marriage licenses were 117, as compared with 340 for the preceding month.

The monthly report of the sanitary inspector shows 621 complaints were investigated and 586 visits made; 578 cesspools were cleaned; 43 horses and 187 dogs were sent to the crematory. The city food and dairy commissioner condemned 572 pounds of food, 174 gallons of milk and 138 dozen eggs.

L. J. WOOD CALLS FOR GRAND JURY

City Council Asks for an Investigation of Charges by Administration Paper.

"FOR CLEAN BILL OF HEALTH"

Latest Twist to the Recurrent Charges of Graft Within the "American" Inner Circles.

With its honor impugned by its own administration paper, and mocked by the paper in the attempt to secure vindication, the city council last night by an almost unanimous vote asked an investigation by grand jury.

Not long ago The Tribune boldly charged that at least two members of the city council were on the payroll of the Buena Vista race track promoters. The council by resolution asked that The Tribune give the names of the councilmen under race track pay and appointed a special committee to investigate the matter. A few days ago the committee held its meeting, called Frank Seifert, general manager of The Tribune, before it, and was laughed at by Mr. Seifert, who bluntly told the committee that he didn't have to tell what he knew. Now the council will seek to find out by means of a grand jury investigation.

The latest twist to the recurrent charges of graft within the circle of the city council was given in the resolution introduced at the meeting of the council Monday night by Councilman L. J. Wood, and adopted by a vote of 11 to 2.

THE RESOLUTION.

Whereas: The Salt Lake Tribune has charged through its columns that at least two members of the city council have been on the payroll of the management of the Buena Vista race track, and

Whereas: The committee appointed by this council to investigate said charge, has reported that said committee has no power to compel the attendance of witnesses at such investigation and The Tribune asserts that it is ready to furnish the names of witnesses who will establish the truth of such charges, as well as other charges of corruption in office against other councilmen and city officials and employees; now, therefore, in view of the lack of power in this council to make such investigation, be it

Resolved: That the district judges of the Third judicial district be, and they are hereby requested to cause a grand jury to be drawn and summoned for this term of court and that such grand jury be instructed to investigate said charges as well as any charges whatsoever that may be preferred by any newspaper, or person whomsoever, against this council or any member thereof, or against any city official or employee; and be it further

Resolved: That the city recorder be and he is hereby instructed to deliver a copy of these resolutions to each of the district judges of this judicial district.

The vote on the resolution was: For—Fernstrom, Holley, Hodgeson, Lees, McKinney, Mulvey, O'Donnell, Reedall, Reed, Wood, Monroton.

Against—Hall, Lyne.

Absent—Davis, Ferry.

MET WITH SCOFFS.

The introduction of the resolution followed the reading of the report of the special committee appointed to investigate the charges made by The Tribune against unnamed councilmen. The report was to the effect that the committee, after calling Frank I. Seifert before it, found that it had no jurisdiction. Although Mr. Seifert had reiterated to the committee the charges made in The Tribune, yet he had refused to produce the proof or evidence, or name witnesses, and the committee found itself powerless to force the matter.

L. E. Hall, in sarcastic vein, expressed what he thought of both the original resolution calling for the investigation and the report of the committee, characterizing the latter as "silly" than the first. Councilman Wood, in introducing the resolution calling for the grand jury investigation, stated that the main effect to be sought was to secure for the American party administration a clean bill of health. All the members present expressed their views and Councilman Mulvey, who advertised himself as the only staunch supporter of the race track, was one of the most urgent in demand as that the grand
